Providers of gambling services (land based)

This survey seeks feedback on the list of data points set out in Annex I of the draft RTS, which specifies the data points to be collected for the assessment of the inherent ML/TF risk exposure of obliged entities. Obligated entities should complete all questionnaires that are relevant to the activities and services they carry out or offer. Where an obliged entity performs activities or provides services falling under more than one category of obliged entities, it should provide responses for each relevant category and corresponding set of data points in the relevant survey. This will help ensure that the final RTS reflect the practical availability, clarity, relevance and proportionality of the proposed reporting requirements across the different categories of obliged entities in the non-financial sector.

The use of intermediaries and retail distribution networks is relevant supervisory information. However, their existence alone should not be treated as evidence of higher ML/TF risk. The risk impact depends on the intermediary's actual role, including customer identification, handling of funds, visibility of payment information, applied controls and ongoing monitoring. These data points should primarily be treated as business model and exposure indicators.
